

Southgate School goes for a Wellbeing Award!

We asked those of you who were with us when we relocated what we should take with us as we moved: overwhelmingly you told us you wanted the Nurture approach to survive the changes.

So now we want to build on this with your help.

We are going for a Wellbeing Award which means we are looking at how well we deal with everyone, and what we can improve. At the end of a year, we hope to be properly recognised for the way we set out to support everyone involved with this school, and to do it better!

As you know Nicky Rogers is retiring, passing on the school to a wonderful team of staff who will keep the spirit of Nurture alive! As part of this, she will start the process of working towards the award but Ruth Perfitt, Head of Lower School, will take it on fully when she returns from maternity leave in July.

The first part of this process is to ask staff, pupils and parents to fill in a questionnaire to help us to evaluate what we do well and what we can work on next. Here is the link to the questionnaire:

Please take a bit of time to answer the questions and send it back. We want your input!

Linda Cooper has agreed to be the Wellbeing Award Governor, Clare Bent the parent representative on the Wellbeing Change Team and Ashley Dutton will be our pupil representative. From the staff, Louise Ellis will be the teacher representative and Rebekka Bojonowski the ETA representative. If any other parent would really want to be a part of this Change Team, please let us know.
